Bullshit

- McCright, A. M., & Dunlap, R. E. (2017). Combatting misinformation requires recognizing its types and the factors that facilitate its spread and resonance. Journal of Applied Research in Memory and Cognition, 6(4)
- Build groups: What dimensions do the authors propose to systematise different forms of information manipulation?
- How would you define “bullshit” and what is special about this type of manipulation?

Bullshit

- Definitions

- “The liar cares about the truth and attempts to hide it; the bullshitter doesn’t care if what they say is true or false, but rather only cares whether or not their listener is persuaded.” (Frankfurt, 2005)
- “Donald Trump Is BS, Says Expert in BS” (Frankfurt, 2016)

Rumours

- In your group: What are rumours? And how might rumours differ from bullshit?

Rumours

- Definitions

- Circulating stories of uncertain source conveying ungrounded gossips (Choi et al., 2020)
- Dissemination is increased by transformations and adaptability (Venturini, 2019)

Rumours

- In your group: False rumours are oftentimes rather harmless on a societal level, like the rumour that the owner of the flower shop down the street is a former gang member. However, some rumours can have a critical impact on society or at least on smaller communities. Do you know any examples of rumours that might have such a negative impact?

Rumours

- Examples

- 2013: False news about Barack Obama being injured due to a White House explosion brought chaos to the stock markets (Choi et al., 2020; Moore & Robert, 2013)
- 2018: False kidnapping rumours on WhatsApp caused a mob lynchings in India (Roozenbeek & van der Linden, 2019; BBC, 2018)
